Bobcats Hope for Conference Win Over Wildcats

Sparked by the all-round playing of Elmer Purtle, the Hope High School basketball team had little difficulty in bowing over the Warren High School Lumberjacks, 50 to 26, here Monday night.

From the opening quarter to the finish, it was the Bobcats all the way. However, the Hope second team and the Hope juniors lost their games to two Guernsey teams. The Guernsey senior boys nosed out the Hope second string squad by a score of 24 to 22. The Guernsey Juniors, decisively whipped the Hope Juniors, 24 to 13.

Purtle Shows Way

Purtle of Hope was the individual scoring star of the feature contest, ringing up a total of 19 points. Norman Green, still hampered by a knee injury, made 10 points.

Conech Foy Hammons and eight members of the team were scheduled to leave Hope early in the afternoon for El Dorado where the Bobcats will be stiff competition from the Wildcats Tuesday night in a conference battle.

Pay-Day---the Finns Met It!

— An Editorial —

"Just 21 years ago this month the people of Finland had thrown off the Bolshevik yoke and established themselves as a free republic. . . . They wanted food for a starving people.

"They said they were not sure they had money enough. I explained that I did not know what the precise cost would be, but that if they could not pay, my authority from the American people was to supply it anyway.

"They said: 'We will pay. Our people will work and pay.' . . .

"For that the Finns obligated themselves to pay some 25 millions. In settlement we greatly reduced the total. And despite their present tragedy, like the North men that they are, they paid every installment—one of them a week ago."—Herbert Hoover, chairman FINNISH RELIEF FUND.

Out of the welter of events of the World war there stands out clearly the supreme example of the Finns—a people courageous enough to fight for liberty, a people competent enough to manage their own republic except against overwhelming military odds, and a people so honest that they alone of all Europe paid their debt to the United States.

The United States wants none of this present war in Europe. Americans are afraid of the consequences of any direct government loan to the Finns. But the American people privately should, and must, help.

The FINNISH RELIEF FUND is being raised by private subscription through a national committee and 1,200 American daily newspapers. All of this money will go direct to the Finns for food and supplies for starving non-combatants. No part of the money will be deducted for expenses of gathering the fund. None of the money can be used for war or war supplies.

Britain to Return 9 German Seaman

Will Give Up Part of 21 Seized From Jap Vessel

TOKIO.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Arita told the Diet Tuesday that Great Britain had agreed to return nine of 21 German seamen seized January 20 from the Japanese liner Asama Maru, but "I cannot say that the case is entirely settled. He said Japan would continue to negotiate for surrender of all the sea men and added:

"Although the Japanese government does not fail to appreciate the desire on the part of the British government to seek speedy settlement of the Asama Maru case, it cannot express satisfaction because the number of Germans to be delivered to Japanese authorities is only part of these whose extradition was demanded."

The Germans were taken from the Japanese liner 35 miles off Yokohama after the vessel had been halted by a British warship with a shot across her bows. They were interned at Hong-kong, British crown colony.

Income 80 Billions Is Roosevelt Hope

Declares U. S. Income Has Jumped 71% Since 1932

HYDE PARK, N. Y. —(AP)—Declaring that his goal still was an annual national income of $80,000,000,000, President Roosevelt tossed what he termed a batch of pretty formidable statistics at assailants of the administration's domestic program.

He cited at a press conference figures to show that America's income had jumped 71 per cent between 1932 and 1939, from $40,000,000,000 to $68,000,000,000. Income now is running at a rate of over $7,000,000,000 annually he said. With an income level of $80,000,000,000 Mr. Roosevelt asserted, the budget would be a little better than balanced.

The president rattled off a list of figures prepared for him by various government agencies. He omitted any reference to such persons as Senator Taft (Rep., O.) Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney, and Frank Gannett, newspaper publisher, who have taken swipes at the New Deal.

Finns Again Beat Back the Russians

Italy Sends Finn Planes, France to Give Aid

HELSINKI, Finland.—(AP)—The Finnish army reported Tuesday it had thrown back powerful new Russian attacks on the Karelian isthmus in fighting that lasted throughout the day into the night.

After repulsing the invaders as they made five infantry attacks Monday, supported by more than 100 tanks and a thunderous artillery preparation, the Finns through the night used their air force to bomb Russian troop concentrations lightly by camp-fires the Finnish communiqué said.

The communiqué declared the people "entitled to know the facts" concerning alleged irregularities and long business methods in the school system and instructed the jury to return indictments if the evidence warrants.

Most recent developments in the complex situation were the resignation of Dr. Henry J. Gerling as superintendent of instruction and a petition demanding the resignation of Richard Murphy as a member of the board of education.

Gerling, head of the school system for 10 years, quit after auditors disclosed he had purchased, through Murphy, stocks and bonds with money from various school relief funds of which he was trustee.

The 70-year-old educator declared he made the investments in good faith in an effort to increase the funds for school purposes. He insisted that all funds remained intact.

The school board, under the leadership of President Mark D. Eagleton, began a widespread "cleanup" inquiry into business practices in various departments last summer after the accounts of Charles Lee Barr, supply commissioner, Barry, guilty of embezzling school funds, and was sentenced to four years in the state penitentiary.

His department was completely revamped with numerous changes in personnel.

The Law Rests Its Case

HOUSTON, Texas.—(AP)—Assistant District Attorney A. C. Wynburn, known to his colleagues as "The Sage of Cypress Creek," dismissed a criminal complaint against a woman. Here is what he wrote: "This defendant has been tried in another land—the court above the sun—where the poor are made rich and the weak are made strong; where the oppressor's rod is broken and all earthly distractions fade away. She has departed this life."

Democrats Pick Chicago Site for 1940 Convention

Windy City Is Chosen Despite $200,000 Bid From Houston

SUITS ROOSEVELT

Farley to Wait On GOP Before Fixing Date of Convention

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The democrats chose Chicago, a center of pro-third term activity, as their 1940 convention city Monday and left it to National Chairman James A. Farley to set the date, presumably after he learns when the republicans will meet.

These decisions were reached at an excited and sometimes turbulent meeting of the party's national committee which saw Houston, Texas, in Vice President Garner's own state, vainly offer $200,000 for the convention, $50,000 more than Chicago's bid.

Chicago's nearest competitor, in fact, was Philadelphia, which also offered $150,000. For a moment, it appeared that Philadelphia might win, but then members from western states who had cast their votes for San Francisco and, in some cases for Houston, switched to the Illinois city. The final count was Chicago 48, Philadelphia 38, San Francisco 7 and Houston 2. One of the last two votes was cast by Garner himself.

After the meeting, Farley told newspapermen that he understood President Roosevelt himself favored taking the convention to Chicago. He indicated he would announce the date for the big party meeting after the republican national committee selects its time and city at a meeting here on February 16.

Chicago, the scene of President Roosevelt's original presidential nomination in 1932, is also the home of the powerful Kelly-Nash democratic organization which has taken a foremost position in the move to draft Mr. Roosevelt for an additional term.

2 Suicides Result in School Scandal

Grand Jury Investigation Is Ordered at St. Louis

ST. LOUIS.—(AP)—A grand jury investigation of the entire St. Louis public school system was ordered Monday by Circuit Judge Ernest F. Oakley as a climax to a series of startling suicides that have resulted in resignations two suicides and numerous dismissals.

The court declared the people "entitled to know the facts" concerning alleged irregularities and long business methods in the school system and instructed the jury to return indictments if the evidence warrants.

Louisiana - Nevada Firm Is Proceeding With Gas Line

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(AP)—The state utilities commission denied without comment Monday a petition of the Arkansas Louisiana Gas company for a rehearing of the commission's Dec. 23 order authorizing the Louisiana-Nevada Transit company to enter Southwest Arkansas as a competitor in the gas distribution field.

The Louisiana-Nevada is engaged in building a $440,000 pipeline from North Louisiana to serve the Ideal Cement company at Okay, the Hope Brick Works, and the Hope Light and Water company's plant.

May Speed Allied Aid to the Finns

Daladier Suggests Break With Russia - British Balk at Idea

LONDON.—British and French aid to Finland may be increased and speeded as result of decisions taken by the allied supreme war council in Paris Monday, it was reported Tuesday.

The decision to increase the aid to the Finns was taken, these unofficial reports said, when the allied leaders decided that the chance of the war being extended to Scandinavia are considerably greater than the moves to Holland and Belgium at the present time.

Reports reached London that French Premier Edouard Daladier had favored breaking off diplomatic relations with Russia, thereby fortifying the French government's stern anti-communist policy at home, but British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and his leaders opposed this.

The British ministers, including Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, who accompanied Chamberlain and the British defense leaders to Paris, were said to have contended that the allies should let Moscow take the initiative along any such lines.

The view of British experts is that the help which probably will reach Finland soon can hold off the Russian air force.

Finland's military air force is estimated here to have been quadrupled since the Soviet invasion began two months ago, including fighting, coastal reconnaissance and bombing planes from abroad.

Despite imposing figures, the Russian air force has failed to impress British experts. The training of Soviet pilots is considered inadequate although it is said to be improving.

It was stated, for instance, that when a Russian squadron lost its leader that the remaining aircraft were helpless.

The original Soviet tactics envisaged landing a big number of parachute troops to seize the vulnerable "foothold" of the parachutists and is said now to be employed only in small units.

The Soviet's full strength has been put at about 5000 front line airplanes plus an unknown number of obsolete machines and reserves thought to be less than 1600 of the modern types.

This total has been distributed between the zones east and west of Lake Balaton and is understood to be following a policy which is against reinforcing one from the other.

Press reports of German artillery, small arms and ammunition being based at Petsamo and Murmansk for the Russians and of the exchange of 15 Soviet submarines for a German cruiser and another unspecified warship are discounted here as "good propaganda," it was said.

German Peace Bid Is Said to Be Due; 6 Points Outlined

Nazis Would Keep Sudeten Area of the Czechs

PART OF POLAND

Germans Want Part They Had Before Versailles

OSLO, Norway.—(AP)—The Stockholm correspondent of the Oslo newspaper Tidens Tegn said Tuesday that rumors of a German peace bid were taking shape.

The paper said reports indicated some neutral state would offer a peace plan reported drawn by a committee established by Field Marshal Hermann Goerring and approved by Adolf Hitler in January.

The plan is reported to have six points:

1. No country can claim war damage.
2. Economic problems must be solved immediately.
3. The Sudeten regions of former Czechoslovak republic will remain German.

4. Poland will cede to Germany all territory which was German before the Versailles treaty.
5. A plebiscite will be held in Austria under Austrian-German-British-French control.

6. A British-French-German commission will decide upon the Czech, Polish and Slovak states of the future in order to guarantee a peaceful attitude toward Germany.

No mention was made of that part of Poland occupied by the Russians.

Trouble in Balkans

BUDAPEST, Hungary.—(AP)—Hungary and Bulgaria Tuesday indicated vigorous opposition to the Balkan Entente's newly-proclaimed policy of "safeguarding national territory" by demanding explanations as to whether this phrase means upholding present boundaries in southeastern Europe.

The two nations, which have been campaigning for a peaceful settlement of their claims upon Rumania for territories they lost to her in the World war settlement, undertook to learn from foreign offices of the entente whether it had undertaken to resist all possibility of territorial concessions.

MAGNOLIA, Ark.—Oil producers in the Magnolia field increased to 89 Monday as a new well was brought in and a gas well was changed to an oil producer.

Shell's Lewis No. 2 SE NE in section 19-17-18, an eastern edge well, started flowing into the pit Monday afternoon and a gauge was expected to be made Tuesday. Depth of the well is 7622 and casing is set at the bottom. A total of 228 shot were given the well, 112 between 7530 and 7538 feet, 92 between 7568 and 7591 and 24 between 7505 and 761.

It was originally brought produced distillate. Oil was turned into tanks Sunday night after perforations were shot between 7568 and 7575 feet.

Press Control in Japan Is Assailed

Government Indicates Control Is to Be Relaxed

TOKYO, Japan.—(AP)—The Japanese government's control of the press, and the government's secrecy on its political intentions, were attacked Tuesday in both houses of parliament.

An attack in the House of Peers drew from Premier Admiral Yonai an expression of agreement with critics of press control. He said a relaxation will be attempted.

Speaking in the upper house, Shigeo Sugawara declared the co-operation of government and people would never be complete while the newspapers are deprived of freedom.

Japan's decision to reopen the lower Yangtze river in China to third-power traffic was attacked bitterly in the parliament Tuesday night as "obsequious diplomacy" aimed at courting favor in the United States.

Loiblolly Pines to Be Local Project

1,000 to Be Planted on L. C. Summerville Farm

The County Council of Home Demonstration clubs will sponsor and plant 1,000 Loiblolly Pines on one acre of land leased from the L. C. Summerville farm on the Rocky Mount road Friday, February 9th.

This is a county project for the home demonstration clubs to sponsor the state forestry program.

Mr. Summerville leased the acre to the clubs free for 25 years. The home demonstration clubs will fence and protect the forest trees. This is to be an example as to what each farm can do in cooperation with the state forestry program.

The planting will start at 9:00 a. m. Judge Frank Rider will open the program. Mr. Frederick Shulley, state extension forester, will conduct the demonstration for the day.

The trees will be planted in rows six feet apart. The executive council group will plant an official row, the farm organization group will plant an official row, and the 4-H club council an official row.

Each club group will plant a row with club officers as the head. A map will be drawn with each club member's name on it who takes part in the planting. All club members are urged to be present and bring their husbands.

Shover, Centerville, Hopewell, and Rocky Mount home demonstration clubs will act as hostess group for the day.

LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—A new wave of bombings attributed to the Irish Republican Army swept England Tuesday as the government of Ireland sought a stay of scheduled execution of two Irish Republican Army men Wednesday.

Explosions shook London's crowded Customs railroad station, the Birmingham general postoffice, and the postoffice in Manchester. Six were injured.

Mayor, Members City Council Give Stay Endorsement

New Clemency Order Issued Tuesday for Woodard Breed

JUDGE OPPOSES IT

Little River Prosecutor Also Voices His Opposition

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Acting Governor Bob Bailey Tuesday granted a 30-day extension of stay of sentence to Woodard Breed, 32-year-old Hope resident, convicted in "Little River circuit court last September on an arson charge in connection with the burning of an Ashdown hotel and sentenced to one year in prison.

Under the new clemency order which extends the 90-day stay granted Breed last November 6 by Governor Carl Bailey, Breed will not be required to report to the penitentiary to start serving his term until March 6.

The Hope Petition

The Arkansas Supreme court upheld Breed's conviction.

In a letter to Sheriff J. G. Sanderson of Little River county, advising him of the additional 30-day respite, Bob Bailey said it was granted upon the recommendation of the following men:

L. N. Garner, L. A. Keith, E. P. Young, F. D. Henry, J. R. Williams, J. A. Brown, C. E. Cassidy, members of the Hope city council; Dewey Hendrix, Hempstead county tax assessor; and numerous business men in Hope.

"During the previous stay of sentence, Breed has remained away from pool halls, beer parlors and gambling parlors, and his attorney is ill and cannot present a plea for further clemency."

The governor's files on the case showed the original 90-day stay was granted at the request of W. S. Adams, Hope attorney, and which was recommended by all members of the jury which convicted Breed.

Order Is Opposed

Prosecuting Attorney Byron Goodson and Circuit Judge Minor Milwee opposed the clemency order.

Monday the governor's office announced that Governor Carl Bailey last Friday granted a 30-day extension furlough to Earl R. Jarvis, owner of the hotel which burned, and who is now under a two-year sentence for arson as the result of a hotel fire.

Britain Is Sorry — So What?

According to reports from London, British diplomats are beginning to wonder whether the United States will be as good as it sounds about the delay in the delivery of the lend-lease supplies to British authorities.

It seems that the British are a good deal on the back being more impatient than the U. S. They feel that the United States could be put around a little before they get too serious. Now there is some concern as to how close the United States has been driven to taking a nice big chunk out of British prestige.

England is worried, and perhaps a little sorry. But she's learned something and she can't possibly tell off the bloodhounds without losing face.
An international commodity more valued than these days than most of exchange. So, from unofficial sources (which are as close as being official as British drives to be) come suggestions and reasons explaining why American vessels have been held up so long.

To the United States, the reasons are unimpressive. "While Sam is not convinced. The whole business looks pretty bad. And why shouldn't it?"
Britain's own shipping industry needed help to prevent war broke out.
It was imperative that the merchant fleet be maintained on a profitable basis, and to do so boats must carry full cargoes.

The suggestion has been made before that England engaged in a bit of comparative with her shipping interest. It has been suggested that a reasonable period while British boat representatives passed the word among American shippers that service would be much better on boats flying the Union Jack.

There's one version. It may not be an accurate explanation. Official Britain would say its criticism. But perhaps it's not nearly as absurd and incoherent as the reasons advanced for stopping American ships and holding them longer than other boats are held or for delaying American mail packets.

Americans don't like to have anyone else reading their mail. They're rather sensitive about that. We wouldn't like it in a bit if Nazi sea raiders opened mail packages destined for other countries. We like it no better if British does it.

It is not preposterous for the United States to demand simple rights, even during wartime. We didn't start the war, and we want as much of it as possible.
We are willing to stay out of the way of belligerents as far as such a course is reasonable. We have already put up with discomforts and inconveniences for which we are not responsible. But there is a limit to how much in United States we can tolerate. There is a limit to the pressure upon our sympathy to take unfair advantage.

Quality of First Aid May Determine Accident Victim's Chance for Recovery

In accident cases, chances of the patient's eventual complete recovery depend largely on early treatment of his injuries.

The following advice, concerning the steps to be taken in first aid, may apply to Red Cross workers, attendants at highway first aid stations or to anyone who may find himself in the position of giving help to accident victims.

First Aid: Every one should be taken to handle dressings as little as possible, and to make certain the wound is not touched. A dressing that has already been put on a wound should not be removed unless the patient is ready to be sent home or there is some good reason for taking it off.

Severe injury to soft tissues: These may be present although there is no fracture, and the injuries should be dressed after removal of foreign matter. Splints should be applied.
Wounds of the larger muscles—example, the upper thigh—may be associated with considerable shock, despite the absence of damage to bone or severe hemorrhage.

Hemorrhage: Application of a tourniquet is painful, and it may seriously impair the vitality of the limb on which it is placed. A tourniquet should therefore be applied only after careful consideration. Under ordinary circumstances, the pressure should be released after 15 minutes to see whether the bleeding has stopped.
Under no circumstances should a tourniquet be left on for more than 30 minutes.

than an hour. It should be applied just tight enough to stop the hemorrhage.

Abdominal wounds: The entrance wound in these cases may be insignificant. There is usually considerable pain, but the abdominal muscles may not be rigid. If a blood vessel has been ruptured, the pulse rate will increase. Morphine should be given only when the pain is intense and the patient is restless. Chance of recovery in such cases usually depends on early operation.

Burns: No attempt should be made to clean burns. They should simply be covered with a suitable dressing. The dressing (gauze and oil) should be renewed before application. Pain and does not interfere with effect of morphine and dressing applied later. Morphine will probably be required.

WE THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLET

Women owe themselves a lot. A woman owes herself the feeling of independence that comes from knowing that she can earn a living.

A woman owes herself an absorbing outside interest which will keep her from becoming drab.

A woman owes herself a little time alone every day. Time in which she can think her problems through and escape becoming machine-headed.

A woman owes herself a sense of the value of her own importance as a person—to keep her family and friends from demanding more of her than they have a right to ask.

A woman owes herself the dignity that comes from being able to stand on her own feet.

A woman owes herself the best security for the future that a woman can have—financial, moral, intellectual and a place in the community which she has worked to earn.

Personality Obligations:
A woman owes herself a gracious personality.

A woman owes herself retaining mental growth and development—so that the years will not make her less but more of a person.

A woman owes herself a sense of values which will guide her in making important decisions and in her relationship with other people.

She also owes herself as much fun as she can get out of every day living.

A woman owes herself the satisfaction that comes from making a home that has in it as much of herself as any woman could duplicate in it.

A woman owes herself all these things—and if they aren't paid on, both she and her family will be cheated.

How Old Are You?

Age is a quality of mind. If you have left your dreams behind, you are old. If you no longer look ahead, if your ambitions' fires are dead, then you are old. But if from life you take the best, and if in life you keep the best, if you love life—No matter how the years go by, No matter how the birthdays fly, You are not old!

Dr. Frank Crane said—Nobody grows old by merely living a number of years. People grow old only by deserting their ideals. Years wrinkle the skin, but to give up enthusiasm wrinkles the soul. Worry, doubt, self-distrust, fear and despair—these are the long, low years that bow the heart and turn the gleaming spirit back to dust. You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt, as young as your self-confidence, as old as your fear, as young as your hope, as old as your despair. In the central place of your heart is an ever-green tree, its name is Love. So long as it flourishes you are young. When it dies, your heart there is a wireless station; so long as it receives messages of beauty, cheer, hope, grandeur, courage and power from the earth, from men and from the Infinite, so long you are young."

The Bay View Reading Club will meet at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. R. Hamilton, South Elm street.

SERIAL STORY

THE CAPTAIN'S DAUGHTER

BY HELEN WORDEN

Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.

YESTERDAY, Marie tries to recapture her lost romance with Tommy, but the thought of Dan keeps intruding. Tommy is far from being romantic anyway. Marie is angry when she reads a stirring newspaper account of Dan's fight with Tommy.

CHAPTER XIII

Dan couldn't make head nor tail of his father's phone call. What, in heaven's name, did he mean, Dan asked himself over and over, when he yelled, "Yell not marry that blithering barge man's daughter if I kin live to prevent it!"

Dan was still in the glow of the reconciliation he and his father had before Mike Donovan left, when the telephone call came. Dan knew enough not to question Mike when he was in a mood like that. He also knew that no matter what his father said, he was going to marry Marie-La Porte.

Instead of going out he waited for Mike to come back, fretfully nursing his souvenirs of last night's fight. He wanted to learn what had happened to make him change his mind so violently about Marie. When he didn't return he phoned the office, but Mike wasn't there. Then he phoned Varnet's, but they told him Marie had gone for the day. He could stand this no longer. Grabbing his hat and coat, he dashed for the door.

"I don't know when I'll be back," he called to an astonished Ling.

Easing his hat on to avoid the bruises, he hailed a taxi. "Pier Six, East River," he told the driver. Impatiently he watched the street signs as the car sped south. "We're only at 50th. Step on it."

"We'll either land in the morgue or jail, sir," the cabman answered, "if I go any faster."

WITH a grudging nod Dan settled back in the car, his thoughts leaping ahead. He would see Marie at the barge, they would be married tonight. After all, what was the use of waiting when you'd found the girl you wanted. He loved her so!

"Here we are, sir." The driver's words interrupted his thoughts. "Not so bad. We made that in 20 minutes."

Dan handed him a $5 bill. "Keep the change!" He jumped out of the cab and raced down the pier, then stopped short. He didn't even know which barge it was that Marie's father owned. She had taken him to it last night, but it had been dark and he hadn't paid any attention to his surroundings. "Where does Marie La Porte live?" he inquired of an old fellow sitting on the rim of the pier.

The man stared at him with astonished eyes. This was the second time today he had been asked to direct the way to the La Porte barge. Something must be up. Bat La Porte had been at the barge over the first caller. Would he treat this second guy in the same fashion?

"That's the barge," the old man said, thumbing at the Molly. "Ye can't miss her. She's got the whitest sides and the brightest green shutters of any boat tied up here." He looked dubiously at Dan's battered face. "But Bat La Porte isn't in the best of temper today. If yer errand can wait, I advise ye to postpone it. Mrs. Bat had to haul her man in when the last visitor left. Bat wanted to kill him!"

Dan nodded his thanks but ignored the advice. He was thoroughly enjoying the spring sunshine and the quaint colony of barges. As he strolled toward the Molly, he idly wondered whom it was that Bat had been in such a stew over.

Perhaps it was Tommy Ryan, back again to see Marie. He squared his jaw and moved with more determination. Even if he wasn't around and didn't love Marie, he thought, he'd hate to see her waste her life on a guy like that Tommy Ryan—why, he was nothing but a big lump of beef. He couldn't possibly appreciate anything as fine and beautiful as Marie.

The tide was rising and the Molly's deck lay above the pier. Clearing the level between it and the dock, he strode across to the hatchway. It was open.

"Is Marie La Porte in?" he called down. "This is Dan Donovan."

AT his question an apparent earthquake took place in the La Porte cabin. A chair overturned, something that sounded like a table with dishes on it crashed. He heard an exasperated woman's voice, which he recognized as Mrs. La Porte's. "Bat, what in the name of the Lord are you doing now?"

"Deed you hear that, Nanette?" Bat demanded, jumping from his chair and pushing everything about him aside in an effort to clear the distance to the hatchway in one step. "That racketeer Donovan's in here now. The idiot!"

He bounded up the tiny flight of steps, poking his head through the hatchway into Dan's face. "Get off this boat," he screamed. "Your papa tells me Marie isn't good enough for you."

"But, Mr. La Porte," protested

Dan, "Dad couldn't mean that, especially when I—"

"Don't you say another word," yelled Bat, shaking a fist under Dan's bruised nose. "Your papa, he say my girl has no social standing because she live on a barge. I'll tell you right now, she better than you—a waster. Now get out!"

Mrs. La Porte pushed her way past her husband, a spot of color on each high cheek-bone. Shoving Bat's face aside, she turned to Dan.

"Why did you want to see my girl?"

"Because I want to marry her."

TENSE with emotion, Bat picked up his wife and sat her down in a chair close to the hatchway.

"You keep quiet," he ordered. "These is my business now." He looked up at Dan. "Do you want to marry my girl? Well, sir, if it is any consolation to you, I snapped his fingers in Dan's face, 'my daughter will never marry you. As I have made mention before, she will marry one of her own kind when the time comes.'"

Already a wreck from last night's fight and ordeal in jail, and his father's phone call, Dan lost what vestige of control he had. "I won't believe that unless Marie tells me herself. Certainly not you," he shouted.

"Why do you come here looking for Marie at this time of day?"

"Because they told me at Varnet's that she had gone."

Mrs. La Porte stared at him. "But Marie isn't here!" she protested. "What's happened to her?"

She caught Bat's arm. "Did you hear that?" she screamed. "You've all nagged the poor girl so she's probably killed herself."

She rocked back and forth in her chair sobbing.

"Now don't get excited, Nanette," Bat coaxed, his rage of a few minutes before entirely gone. "We will find her. He patted her on the back. "The trouble is with these young fools."

"His face brightened. 'I have an idea. Maybe he knows more than we do.'"

He started up the steps again to the hatchway. "Thees, young man will help me find her. Won't you, Mr. Donovan?"

But there was no answer. Dan had gone. Bat climbed out on deck, shading his eyes toward South street. There was Dan, racing down the pier.

"Where you goin'?" Bat yelled. "To find Marie," Dan shouted back.

Griffith Opens Up On Baseball Czar

Says Commissioner's Method Meeting Problem All Wrong

ORLANDO, Fla.—(AP)—Clark Griffith, shrewd owner-president of the Washington Nationals, agreed Monday with Kenesaw M. Landis that the present baseball farm system often is an "email," and then lambasted the commissioner's methods of meeting the problem.

He defended the system's right to existence and asserted emphatically he would fight to the last ditch against any attempt to kill Class C and D leagues, the "life blood of American baseball."

"I agree with Commissioner Landis that the manner in which some farm clubs are run can be, and is, an evil. But until Landis can advance some concrete proposal that will allow the Class D leagues to flourish, I'll fight to the last breath," the 70-year-old Griffith said.

"I do not believe that Mr. Landis realized fully the far-reaching effects of point five in his first declaration. I believe that he will further modify it and that, in time, some proposal will be brought forward to clear the picture."

(Point five covers working agreements. The essence of its wording would prevent Charlotte, a Washington farm, from giving aid to the Orlando Class D club unless Charlotte owned Orlando outright.)

"That point five in the proposal got baseball up in the air, for there is no minor league team that is self-supporting. Even the Class AA clubs have to get help from the majors once in awhile."

"Class D leagues are always in need of help. One or two clubs in a Class D league might make money some years, but there isn't a Class D league in the country that will balance the slate when an audit is made at the end of the season."

Griffith was just as dead set against the commissioner's proposal that subsidies be granted to minor league clubs.

"It is utterly ridiculous to think that a Class D club could operate on a subsidy of $1000 a season, or a Class B league on a subsidy of $1500 or Class C on $2000. That is impossible—the amount would be just a drop in the bucket."

"Landis might be able to outthink me but Landis can't out-think me in a baseball way. I say again that he didn't realize the far-reaching effects of that recommendation."

"You hear an awful lot of the evils of baseball, but you don't hear of the good things."

One of the good things, he said, is a fund of $18,000 borne equally by the American, National and National Association of Minor Leagues, finances a committee to organize new leagues.

Budget Cuts Are Only Temporary

Grover Fails to Find Real Economy in Congress

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — Congress knows more tricks than a magician when it comes to finding a little cut in an appropriation must be made to look like a big one.

That explains most of the slashing the members are talking about. In fact, dollars and cents congress hasn't saved the taxpayers much money yet. Later congress may. Wise Washingtonians doubt there will be any revolutionary budget cuts in 1940.

Most of the savings are not savings at all. They are postponements, congress is simply putting off spending until after election day. If the congressmen can't put it off that long, at least they will stall it off several months. By then so much politics will be in the air that a couple of battleships could be lost in the mist.

Money For Merchant Ships
Here is a sample. Last year congress kept the appropriation of the maritime commission moderately low, but gave it an authorization to construct for $200,000,000 in merchant building would go on, but the cost wouldn't show up in the appropriation bills for a time. This year it began to show up in the appropriation bills for a time. This year it began to show up at a mighty bad time. Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the commission, asked congress to put up $200,000,000 to pay something on these ship-building contracts he had been authorized to make. Last year it was a swell idea to build ships. This year it isn't so popular. The neutrality act has bottled up the ones we have, so why build more?

Congress couldn't repudiate contract it had authorized, but it did trim the admiral's requests to $125,000,000. That looked like a net saving of $75,000,000. It wasn't anything of the kind. It was just a postponement. Congress will have to pay it later—but not much later. The admiral came rushing up to congress to protest that $200,000,000 of the $75,000,000 was needed already to pay on contracts let, and, by jimmies, he wasn't going to be left holding the bag.

That $75,000,000 is the biggest "savings" yet marked-up.

The House appropriations committee tried to smooth over the cut by authorizing the admiral to contract for $150,000,000 more cargo ships, but the House would have nothing of it. Any fancy authorizations like that will have

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

with . . . Major Hoople

to come through as a separate bill.

Here is another sample. The army, navy and coast guard came up for an emergency supplemental appropriation to speed up the defense program and finance the neutrality patrol. They asked $271,999,523. In a fury of economy the House trimmed $4,801,615 off that bill. But it wasn't a net saving by any means. They authorized the navy to go ahead with $2,450,000 of building. The money for it will be appropriated perhaps next year, after election.

In an even greater wave of economy, the Senate cut $12,788,664 off this emergency bill. Part of it was good, clean savings but part of it—about half—was just good, clean fun. The Senate simply told the navy to wait about six months before it bought $1 scout bombers at a cost of $6,375,000.

The Navy Program
The House staged a good economy act by reaching right into the White House to knock off three presidential pets, the Office of Public Reports, $1,055,000; the National Resources Planning Board ($1,060,000) and the Council of Personnel Administration.

But the House members were only fooling. These agencies had been set up out of relief funds and there was no law under which a direct appropriation could be made. It was a good act while it lasted, but the agencies probably will get their money—later.

The really big show is the Naval Expansion bill devised by Rep. Vinson of Georgia, chairman of the House naval affairs committee. It came out first as a $1,300,000,000 naval expansion bill with a whopping addition of nearly a hundred ships in a five-year program. It didn't get a good public reception. Now it has shrunk to $372,000,000. But the navy's desire for a hundred ships hasn't been cut. Instead the thing has been trimmed in time—not in space. Now it is a two-year program, calling for 21 ships. The thing can be started for a piddling $28,000,000 appropriation. The real jack will have to come later, after 1940.

THE PAYOFF

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK — The Yankees have asked waivers on Pitchers Spurgeon Chandler, Oral Hildebrand and Lee Grissom and Infielder Bill Knickerbocker.

This is not particularly significant, for waivers usually are withdrawn, and the trick is to request the right to ship several when the big idea is to make a satisfactory deal for one.

The Browns, for example, have just asked for waivers on the entire club, and you know very well they have no intention of getting rid of fellows like George McQuinn and Harland Clift.

But the Yankee action at least indicates that perhaps Joe McCarthy does not intend to stand as pat as he said he would.

Spud Chandler and Hildebrand would be snapped up in a jiffy at the waiver fee — $7500.

Because he has played so little the last couple of campaigns, Knickerbocker may not be worth any more than that, and Lefty Grissom's arm is a doubtful quantity.

Grissom would not have been waived out of the National League — swapped to the world champions for Joe Beggs of Newark, on whom McCarthy gave up—had Bill McKechnie, the Red Soxable handler of pitchers, believed the tall Californian's soupbone would come around.

It would not be surprising if the aim of the Yankee waiver list was to land Grissom with one of Edward Grant Barrow's AA outfits, where he could better nurse his flipper.

Knick Can Spell Three Infielders

Chandler's start was long delayed last year due to his breaking his ankle in a pre-training season workout. But the freckled Chandler pitched superbly when the injury healed and he got in shape.

After going well in the spring, Hildebrand was used sparingly, although there were times when the New Yorkers were in dire straits for pitching. It may be that McCarthy lacked faith in the Hoosier.

A knee injury to Frankie Crosetti cost the Yanks a pennant one year, which is why McCarthy jumped at

Income 80 Billions

in their campaigns for the Republican presidential nomination. Yet his remarks might be construed as an answer to critics of the administration. The statistics were intended to demonstrate that there had been big gains since the New Deal took over in 1933 in wages and salaries, factory pay rolls, cash farm income, non-agricultural employment, exports and industrial production.

These were formidable figures, he commented, to take on and try to show that country is, as he put it, bust.

Says Budget Would Balance
If national income can be pushed up to $80,000,000,000 by everybody's putting as many people to work as possible, he asserted, federal expenditures for relief and kindred objectives will go down and, with approximately the opportunity to obtain Knickerbocker from the Browns. Because he is willing to remain in shape while reposing in the dugout and can spell Crosetti, Joe Gordon or Red Rolfe, Knick is a valuable hand.

Although they had pitching quantity galore, Barrow and McCarthy confess they were sitting on a powder keg more than once in 1939.

I can't see that they have any great cause for apprehension this trip—with Marvin Breuer and Tommy Reis coming up from Kansas City with imposing records.

Yankee's Success Rests in Pitching

Red Ruffing isn't getting any younger, but neither does he show the slightest sign of slipping. Monte Pearson is a pippin. Alcy Donald slumped last season only because he refused to let McCarthy that his arm had gone lame. Steve Sundra is constructed for wear and tear.

Lefty Gomez should be tougher shooting for the high salary brackets again, and Bump Hadley remains one of the toughest spot slingers in the business. Marius Russo is a corner. Johnny Murphy is a finer relief worker than Herbert Hoover.

The Yanks placed six pitchers in the first 10 in the American League earned-run ratings in 1939. And of the six leaders, only Vernon Gomez had an earned-run average higher than three runs.

The New York Yankees have a remarkable fielding club and swat that long ball, but their success in more recent years has rested in their pitching.

the same tax base, government income will rise. It seems, the president went on, there is no question at all that if we level up to an $80,000,000 income level we would have a little better level than a balanced budget. Of course he said, a lot of people don't want to do it that way. They want to cut government expenditures immediately in such a drastic way that there would be a repetition of the recession that began in the fall of 1937 and lasted until the spring of 1939.

Mr. Roosevelt declined, however, to venture any economic forecasts for 1940 or to speculate on the possibility of achieving a national income of $80,000,000,000. There are too many coefficients in the situation, internationally, he explained.

Gains Over Bottom Shown

The executive recited these figures: Wages and salaries, $2,403,000,000 in December, 1939; $2,888,000,000 in December, 1938; up 20 per cent.

Weekly pay rolls of factory workers, $80,000,000 in December, 1939; $197,000,000 in December, 1938; up 145 per cent.

Cash farm income, $4,682,000,000 in 1939; $5,519,000,000 in 1938; including $807,000,000 of federal benefit payments; up 82 per cent.

Dividends received by individuals, $2,745,000,000 in 1939; $4,253,000,000 in 1938; up 55 per cent.

Non-agricultural employment exclusive of about 3,000,000 employed by the CCC, WPA and NYA, 27,245,000 in 1939; 24,949,000 in 1938; up 9 per cent.

Export, $1,611,000,000 in 1939; $3,179,000,000 in 1938; up 97 per cent.

Federal Reserve Board's production index, 1932 average 65; 1939 average 106; up 64 per cent.

Interest received by individuals $59,270,000 in 1939; $4,823,000,000 in 1938; down 9 per cent.

HOLLYWOOD — The lovey-dovey goings-on of the John Barrymores brought him a movie offer Sunday. Daryl Zanuck, film producer, wired Barrymore in New York an offer to star in a picture called "The Great Profile."
